

Dear Valued Client:

Thank you very much for attending the Private Supplier Catalog (PSC) training seminar today. By now, you understand how to use PSC to create a professional catalog about your company and products -- providing you with a tool for more effective electronic advertising. We'd like to once again remind you of the benefits of the PSC for your future reference:

- Create and update your electronic company and product information at any time.
- Effectively manage your online advertising on Global Sources.
- Save on printing costs by printing professional product brochures from the PSC.
- Create a customer database by using the PSC address book, making it easier for you to follow up with buyers and send out your latest product information to customers.
- Monitor market trends and your competitors' marketing strategy with the reports function.
- Promote your new products secretly when you invite selected buyers to your private showroom.
- Create professional PDF product flyers and catalogs to post on Global Sources so you can attract more inquiries.
- Ensure the security, effective management and sharing of company information by assigning appropriate login access and user roles to your employees.
- And much, much more...
