

Not your average woodworking machines

Three to five new products annually

If you're looking for something beyond the usual, we're your supplier. We offer you woodworking machines such as our combination woodworker. It's a thickness planer, saw, shaper and mortiser in one. You'll find machines like this among the three to five new products we create every year.

And you can count on us to design something with the features you require – without breaking your budget. For example, one buyer couldn't afford the large-scale planer he had in mind. We didn't turn him away. Instead, we developed a smaller woodworking lathe that cost less, but still had the same functions he needed.

Your orders get the full attention they deserve at our four factories. We produce everything on-site, including the components – something our competitors don't do. Our monthly capacity is 40,000 woodworking and metalworking machines. If you need more standard models such as our band saw and dust collector, we can manufacture those too.
